Oil Painter Tatiana Yanovskaya-Sink to Demo at Akillian Gallery

Canton, MA – Akillian Gallery, Massasoit Community College. Nov. 6, 11:00-1:00pm. Free demonstration by Tatiana Yanovskaya-Sink. Public invited. Tatiana is currently featured in a solo exhibition that runs through Nov. 13th.

Her style is rooted in her admiration of traditional masters, past and present. She is an accomplished oil painter, born in Kharkov, Ukraine about 500 miles south of Moscow. At a young age she was exposed to paintings of the greatest Russian and Ukrainian traditional artists. She graduated with a degree in mechanical engineering, and next attended the Kharkov Academy of Art before immigrated to the United States. Tatiana settled in the Boston area where she continues to study, teach, and paint.

Tatiana's work is widely collected and exhibited. She has her studio in Rockland, MA, a member of Putney Painters Group, Connecticut Portrait Society, and an honorable member of the Medici group of Museum of Fine Arts. She is also a member of several South Shore Art Associations, and has received numerous awards. In 2010, Tatiana was published in Art Connoisseur magazine. Her work is represented in galleries in MA, RI, NH, VT, and AZ. For more information visit www.tatianafinearts@verizon.com.
