Canton, MA – Akillian Gallery, Massasoit Community College. 900 Randolph St., Canton MA. April 1 – May 8. "Between the Panels" is a two-man exhibit that features comic book illustrators Tony Sedani and Joel Lolar. Both are Massasoit alums who author, illustrate, and self-publish their own line of comic books. The exhibit pairs hand-drawn story boards with a finished comic book page.

Tony Sedani graduated from Massasoit Community College and Bridgewater State University. He has spent many years crafting the world of Return to Rander, his creator owned comic book. Telling stories through the comics medium is his passion and keeps him up way too late at night drawing. Tony travels near and far to promote the book at comic book conventions. For more information visit: www.tonysedani.com.

Joel Lolar was raised on a steady diet of Saturday morning cartoons and Sunday morning monster movies. When he discovered comic books, he was immediately hooked. Joel is a graduate of Massasoit Community College and The Kubert School of Cartoon and Graphic Art. He spends late nights and early mornings in his studio working on stories about revenge and redemption. He is the creator, author, and artist behind the independent comic book, Forever Winter.
